HealGrief.org is a 501(c)3 web-based organization, providing bereaved individuals a virtual platform to transition their grief into a healthy grief recovery.
Lighting a candle is a symbolic way to honor someone’s life.

At HealGrief.org

It’s simply a way to show that someone’s spirit lives on in the hearts they leave behind.

The Candle Gallery is where someone can remember a loved one, on special days or any day.

It’s where others can show the bereaved that their loved ones are not forgotten and are remembered too.

Our Mission:

To create a universal awareness and understanding of grief and provide a virtual community, without geographical boundaries, where individuals can connect, heal and memorialize their loved one.

Our Vision:

For individuals to transform their grief into a celebration of life for a loved one and the life they lived.

Our Hope:

To redefine how our culture perceives death and dying.
Taking advantage of technology and social media, HealGrief.org takes a modern approach to the way individuals communicate a loved one’s death. HealGrief.org uses technology bringing family, friends and communities from around the globe to a local place to grieve and heal together.

HealGrief.org helps individuals through the grieving process from the moment a loved one dies. Recognizing that community is no longer defined by geographical boundaries, we start by taking the place of the traditional obituary notice. At no cost, users create a funeral notice, disseminate it to family and friends around the globe and gain instant comfort as condolences are expressed, virtual candles are lit and memories are shared, transforming the funeral notice into a celebration of the decedent’s life.

Scents, sights, and songs can be reminders of your loved one. The HealGrief app will allow you to easily express your grief or thoughts from wherever you may be.

Program Accomplishments

Demand for our organization is growing.

HealGrief analytics show the highest count of users on any given week during 2013 was 1,627.

Since the implementation of our awareness campaign, HealGrief reached 5,160 users, a 317% increase within a measured week.

Analytics also show a 411% increase on pages viewed when comparing 2013 to 2014 with Aug. 2014 showing the highest page views totaling 22,812 views.
Our growth allows us to launch our new program, “gifts of kindness” to help bereaved families.

HealGrief.org offers gifts of kindness helping families that have been financially burdened after a loved one has died.

HealGrief understands that grieving over the death of a loved one can seem overwhelming and unmanageable. Normal no longer exists. There is a new norm and it can take months to settle in. Healthy grief recovery is essential for individuals and families to settle into this new norm.

HealGrief knows that added financial burdens increase stress and anxiety and can interfere with a healthy grief recovery. HealGrief provides short and long term gifts of kindness to families that have been financially burdened after a loved one has died. Gifts may include gift cards for essential family needs or may be individual gifts directed towards a child’s needs.

HealGrief believes it’s okay to laugh and have family fun while grieving. It’s part of a healthy recovery. HealGrief also believes that a little help and a gift of kindness is sometimes all someone needs to re-enter the world. HealGrief’s gifts of kindness focus on providing grieving families, an opportunity to laugh and have family fun again.
Thanks to our benefactors and donors,

HealGrief has had the pleasure of serving thousands of bereaved individuals and those looking to support them.

HealGrief helps transition their grief into a healthy grief recovery.

HealGrief continues to lead in online resources, community, support and connections.

HealGrief’s significant growth was made possible due to the generosity of the Matthew Silverman Memorial Foundation

The MSM Foundation is inspired by the life of Matthew Silverman.

In 2006, a young man of eighteen, Matthew lost his life to suicide. The Foundation is dedicated to support causes that help prevent teen suicide and the causes that support individuals and families bereaved after a death occurs.

When the cold air chills a hummingbird, it’s body lies as if it’s died.

But with the warmth of the sun, the hummingbird takes flight again.
